A Thoughtful Letter

The following letter is printed in this position today because it deserves maximum exposure. My comments will follow the letter.

September 30, 1971

Mrs. Jo Westpheling
The Hickman Courier
Hickman, Kentucky 42050

Dear Jo,

Enclosed please find a clipping from the Paducah Sun Democrat telling why Fulton County will not receive funds available under the new Public Employment Program.

I think the reason given is stupid.

Where are the people that represent Fulton County in our Federal Government? Why aren't they fighting tooth and nail to correct this program so that Fulton County will receive its share of the benefits?

I look to the Courier to get us the answers.

Regards,
Hank Ruttinger

Dear Hank:

I appreciate your confidence in the Courier. The truth of the matter is that too many people (mostly elected officials) just didn't move into action when President Nixon first announced the appropriation for the Emergency Unemployment program.

I have heard many different versions of our failure to get Federal funds on the first go around. When concerned citizens, like yourself and the Courier, raised voices in protest, then the State Administration moved into action to get something done.

I talked with Washington on two occasions last week about the matter. Two of our high-ranking elected officials had seen the Courier article and checked into our particular problem. I was told, on good authority, that the criteria for making the appropriations came from various state officials in Frankfort.

You can draw your conclusions from that. A story on the applications for funds appears in this issue.

But Hank, the real problem is that more interested people like yourself don't concern themselves with the inner workings of community development. Trite though it may be, that old saying about "letting George do it," is as true as true can be.

But George must be an over-burdened fellow, because he certainly lets a lot of programs slip by us that should rightfully be ours.

The Animal Control Program

Now take for instance the Dog Control program recently put into effect by contributions from Fulton, Hickman, and the Fulton County Fiscal Court.

If ever I have seen a more dismal lack of interest in a public appropriation I don't know when it's been. I do not fault James Martin, the dog warden, because he's doing the best he can. But do you know that quite by accident the Hickman City Commission learned that Martin had taken a full time job at the County Jail. Nobody seems to know for sure whether he has resigned the dog warden's job or if he is working part time. Nobody seemed to know either whether the dog pound was ever established.

Of course there's not much glamor, nor remuneration in the position of dog warden. There is an untold amount of territory to cover, and what seems so little control over the program. But public money is being spent and I do think that we ought to know a little more about how the program works, don't you?

Too Much News

There's too much other news in the Courier this week for me to ramble on any further. However after my comments perhaps this little story is in order.

An editor died after a lingering illness. His savings barely covered his hospital and doctor's bills, leaving nothing for funeral expenses. A friend after soliciting funds all day, lacked only one dollar having enough. Warily he asked a stranger, "Could you give me a dollar to bury an editor?"

The stranger pulled out a five dollar bill and said, "Here, bury five of them."

Fulton County Property Taxes
Remain Near Last Year's Level

After a gigantic leap in county tax payments last year, mostly due to the bond issue for the new city high school, Fulton County residents will pay about the same sum this year in property taxes as they did in 1970.

The total assessment of $568,231.54 is only $5,449.44 over the 1970 total of $562,782.10.

School taxes make up the bulk of revenue with a total of $363,931.43. Of this total, $179,367.72 accounts for independent school taxes and $184,563.71 results from common school taxes.

This year's figures show a decrease in independent school taxes after a payment of $188,205.76 in 1970. However, county school taxes have increased from the $179,720.39 sum assessed in 1970.

A 30 cent increase in independent school taxes was included in a $960,000 bond issue approved in October of 1969 to finance the new high school for the city of Fulton under construction. (Common school taxes are not affected by the bond issue.)

County taxes, which include real estate, personal property, bank shares, and poll taxes, show a $2,108.91 jump after last year's assessment of $75,- $21.80. The 1971 total is $77,-930.71.

Another source of revenue, state taxes, amounts to a smaller share of the total this year than in 1970. The $57,469.61 figure is $935.09 less than the previous year's total of $58,404.70. These revenues include real estate, tangible personal property, interest other than bank shares and brokers accounts, bank shares, and annuities.

Special levies, including library taxes, health tax, and hospital tax, amount to a larger share of the county total this year, $12,606.91 more. The 1970 sum was $56,292.88 and this year's assessment is $68,899.79.

Fulton County has a total assessed property value of $76,- 437,826. A breakdown into five divisions of real estate, tangible property, the manufacture of machinery and raw materials, stocks, bonds, notes, accounts receivable, and bank shares, yields the following figures:

Real estate — independent school district: $13,379,178; county school district: $37,232,314, for a total of $50,611,492.

Tangible property — independent district: $4,945,267; county district: $4,484,181, for a total of $9,429,448.

Manufacture of machinery and raw materials — independent district: $1,455,785; county district: $5,975,599, for a total of $6,531,384.

Stocks, bonds, notes, accounts receivable — independent district: $5,094,487; county district: $3,168,730, for a total of $8,263,217.

An assessed value of $1,-600,815 for bank shares completes the property tax assessment picture in Fulton County.

Democratic Co-Chairman
Named For Fulton County

Three co-chairmen have been appointed for the Fulton County Democratic campaign organization. Dan Taylor, Fulton, will work with Brodie Creed and Earl Taylor of Hickman. Both Creed and Taylor of Fulton served as campaign co-chairmen for the successful gubernatorial campaign of Wendell Ford during the primary last May.

In making the announcement from Democratic headquarters in Frankfort, Dee Huddleston, state campaign chairman, said: "We are very pleased to have three proven community leaders heading the democratic campaign in Fulton County. Because of local leadership like theirs, the Democratic candidates confidently predict a return to office on November 2."

In accepting the appointment Earl Taylor said: "I am a lifelong Democrat. I was wholeheartedly for Judge Combs in the primary and I intend to give the same kind of support to the entire Democratic ticket this fall."

Plans are being made to open a campaign headquarters in downtown Fulton and Hickman, and a thorough organization, down to the precinct level, is now in the working stage. Creed, Earl Taylor and Dan Taylor will work closely with J. Turney Davis, chairman of the county executive committee to bring about a victory November 2.

Mrs. H. G. Shaw, who served as Ford's campaign co-chairwoman, is similarly working with all Democratic women in the county in the interest of the party.

"I REMEMBER WHEN CASEY JONES climbed over the fence and said goodbye. He told us 'I'll be riding the train next time you see me.' Thus went the recollections of Mrs. Rufus (Annie) Elkins of Cayce, who will observe her 97th birthday Saturday. A semi-invalid, she lives with her husband, who is in his early nineties at their home on the north outskirts of Cayce. In an interview with a News reporter this week, Mrs. Elkins stated that she and Casey Jones attended school together at the old Edmondson school north of Cayce, and that Jones' father was the teacher. Casey Jones began his famous railroading career the day he climbed over the fence and said goodbye to his friends at Cayce and went to work for the railroad that passed through that community.

Anyhow, "Happy Birthday", Miss Annie! This story is about YOU, not John Luther. ("Cayce") Casey Jones.

Have You 'Come A Long Way,' Baby ???

By Betty Higgins

There are those who claim that the female of the species has made great advancement in the last 50 years. Witness women smoking in public, women in top military positions, women wearing daring apparel, and the host of once-forbidden activities the "fairer" sex now engages in.

But there are other barometers which indicate the progress of the female. For example, the laws and statutes governing the employment of women sometimes reveal their status.

This summer when some remodeling and painting was going on at the National Store on Lake Street, a copy of "Laws Regulating the Employment of Females to Safeguard Their Health" was found behind a display case.

The copy was dated as approved March 12, 1912.

A search for a copy of the current laws for purposes of comparison and contrast proved almost wasted — in 60 years changes in the regulations have been almost nil.

For instance, the old copy reads, "No female under twenty-one years of age shall be employed or suffered or permitted to work at any gainful occupation except domestic service and nursing, more than sixty hours in any one week, nor more than ten hours in any one day."

The law now in effect reads, "No female under 18 years of age shall be permitted to work at any gainful occupation, except domestic service and nursing, more than sixty hours in any one week, nor more than ten hours in any one day."

So, as you can see, the only change has been in lowering the age.

per every three female employees.

And, if working behind a desk, counter, or table, the employee must be provided with a chair. Interestingly, folding seats are not considered in compliance with the order.

The current law does stipulate that "No female under twenty-one years of age shall be employed or permitted to work at any occupation that compels her to remain standing constantly." This provision is not mentioned in the older copy.

Regarding that necessity of life, washrooms, the two copies are in agreement. Females are to be provided with "suitable washrooms and water closets, or privy closets where sewer connection is impossible."

Moreover, the facilities must be kept clean and "free from obscene writing or marking."

As a matter of interest, both laws require that female washroom facilities be maintained

"ONE SOMETIMES FINDS THINGS LIKE THIS when a store has been in the same location for 50 years or so" comments Wendell Green, manager of Fulton's National Store. Green holds up current regulations in his right hand and the well-preserved 1912 regulations in his left. See story.

Newspapers Are Growing With America ... And Helping Preserve Its Freedoms

The week of October 10-16, (next week), is National Newspaper Week. This is the one time during the year when the more than 9,000 weekly and daily newspapers of the nation join hands, as a group, and make a concerted effort to promote a better understanding of newspapers and the vital role they play in preserving the great American way of life, which we cherish.

Newspaper Week was instituted nationally in 1940.

"Newspapers - Growing with America" is the theme for this year's observance.

Newspaper Week is one of the more significant of the many special weeks observed in this country. It is one which seemingly at first glance is important to only one kind of business, but actually it is of major importance to every citizen.

This week is not primarily set aside for newspapers to indulge in self-praise, but it is a time to remind readers of the fact that growth in this free nation goes hand in hand with growth in its free press.

Wars have been fought to gain and preserve our independence. So, too, is battle waged by the newspapers of our country to defend and guard the freedoms and rights of a free people. This is a never-ending fight, quiet at times, at other times loud - but always on behalf of the American people.

Newspapers are a vital part of the American economy, purchasing many millions of dollars of materials each year and offering, through advertising, opportunities for businessmen to increase their revenue and for buyers to use their money to the best advantage.

It was Eugene Fitch Ware who said: "No town can hope prosperity and trade, unless the press shall vigorously aid."

The newspaper industry ranks tenth largest in the country according to a new compilation of newspaper-related statistics prepared by the U. S. Department of Commerce. The report stated:

"The newspaper publishing industry will continue its modest but steady growth in 1971. The stability and assured future growth of the industry are based on the continuing demand for newspapers and its ability to meet and accept the challenge of technological change."

In employment, the industry "remains the fifth largest among all U. S. manufacturing industries, with an estimated 372,000 employment in 1970, up 13 percent from 1963. Production workers account for almost half of the total work force, totaling about 181,000 an increase of 10 percent over 1963."

In the 1963-69 period, the Department found that newspaper circulation recorded a better than 8 percent increase in circulation reaching an all-time high of $140.4 million. The report predicted: "With anticipated increases in circulation and advertising revenues, the industry is expected to grow at an average rate of 4 percent each year during the 1970-75 period with the value of receipts approaching approximately $8.5 billion in 1975. It is expected that the average annual rate of growth for the 1970-80 period is projected to be 5 percent with total receipts of about $11.4 billion in 1980."

On technological progress: "It is estimated that well over one-third of the nation's newspapers have completely changed their production method in the past decade. During the past 10 years more technological developments were introduced than in the entire previous history of the industry. It was the period in which the offset process, phototype-setting and computerization were introduced and refined. Entering the decade of the 1970s with this strong base of technological achievement, the future of the industry is sound and economically stable."

The report predicted: "There will be board use of the cathode ray tube and optical character recognition devices in the composition of the newspaper. Expenditures for capital equipment will continue at a high rate, exceeding the over $2 billion investment during the past decade."

A Vote For Homestead Exemption Will Provide Benefits To Our Senior Citizens

A campaign to inform voters regarding the Homestead Amendment, which will be acted on by referendum in the November election, is being carried into counties throughout the state, according to Cad P. Thurman, chairman of a State Citizens Committee organized to support the amendment's passage.

The amendment, which was placed on the ballot by the 1970 legislature, would grant property tax exemption to residences occupied by owners 65 years of age and older up to $6,500 of assessed valuation.

"Tax relief for the elderly homeowner, whose earning days are in most cases behind him, is an important issue, from both a moral and economic point of view," declared Thurman. "Kentucky voters will decide the question, probably once and for all, in the forthcoming election, and it is vital that each voter know what is involved so he can vote his honest convictions."

In a speech to about 30 persons at the Capitol Rotunda meeting, House Minority Leader Harold DeMarcus, R-Standford, said Kentucky's senior citizens "have been neglected for too long, both economically and culturally, and the passage of this amendment will be at least one step toward the righting of this wrong."

The question will appear on the ballot as follows:

"Shall Section 170 of the Constitution be amended to include as property exempt from taxation a homestead, which is a single unit residence maintained by the owner, who is 65 years of age or older, as his personal residence, up to the assessed valuation of $6,500 on said residence and contiguous real property, except that such property shall not be exempt from assessments for special benefits?"

Vote "Yes!"

"For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord." Romans 8:38,39

POET'S CORNER

IF I ONLY WAS THE FELLOW

While walking down a crowded
City street the other day,
I heard a little urchin
To a comrade turn and say,
"Say, Chimmey, lemme tell youse,
I'd be happy as a clam
If I only was de feller dat
Me mudder t'inks I am."
"She t'inks I am a wonder,
An' she knows her little lad
Could never mix wit' nuttin'
Dat was ugly, mean or bad.
Oh, lot o' times I sit and t'ink
How nice, 'twould be, gee whiz!
If a feller was de feller
Dat his mudder t'inks he is."
My friends, be yours a life of toil
Or undiluted joy,
You can learn a wholesome lesson
From that small, untutored boy.
Don't aim to be an earthly saint,
With eyes fixed on a star:
Just try to be the fellow that
Your mother thinks you are.

FULTON'S

Library Corner

BY LUCY DANIEL

A few new books have just arrived from ANCO Lease Collection Inc., in Atlanta. Let's take a look at some of the titles that will be most in demand.

THE HOUSE OF THE DEER by D. E. Stevenson. This is an exciting and suspenseful novel laid in the enchanting background of a deer-forest in the Highlands of Scotland, and was written by D. E. Stevenson to oblige her many fans who read "Gerald and Elizabeth" and asked for "more about Gerald." Gerald Burleigh - Brown spends a vacation in a primitive old house miles from the nearest village, but it isn't long before he makes friends with the local inhabitants: the young MacAslans, Gerald's host and hostess; the innkeeper who knows all that goes on in the district; Malcolm MacGregor, the stalker, who has lived in the area all his life; and his old mother who dreams of a black horse and is thereby convinced that a dreadful accident is going to happen. Gerald joins in hunting in the deer-forest and becomes involved in some hair-raising adventures.

AMBUSH AT TORTURE CANYON by Max Brand. Three times Silas Durfee, once a Texas Ranger, and Henry Vincent, the nephew and ward of the rich rancher Thomas Bunce, come to grips with the dreaded Spot Lester. In spite of the huge price on his head, the outlaw had never been captured. Silent as a great hunting beast, he would make his kill and vanish. Durfee was married for murder because he had been a Ranger and an old enemy, but for sinister reasons of his own, Spot was determined to destroy young Vincent. Bunce had hired Durfee to guard his nephew and had offered him ten thousand dollars in cash if he would kill the outlaw, but he refused to tell the ex-Ranger what motive Lester had to murder the boy. And the other men working on the ranch knew nothing about Vincent or his past. Here, set in the roaring mining camps and deep in the mountain wilderness, is an action-packed story of men on the vengeance trail - a trail that was to lead them to that final terrible confrontation at Torture Canyon.

A QUESTION OF TIME by Helen McCloy. The stillness in the old ballroom was torn apart by a scream. Sophronia ran down the hall to her grandchild Lisa. "Why did you scream?" "Because I have been here before. All this has happened before..." Was it deja vu, the sense of the already seen, the flash of false recognition common to both normal and abnormal dreams? Is it a premonition in the mechanism of Time itself? These questions came back to Lisa's cousin Susan, ten years later, when she learned that Lisa, no longer a child, was coming home to Boston. Would Lisa be beautiful? Would she still love Susan's brother, Roy? Would she still be afraid of the old ballroom? Susan protested when Grandmother Sophronia announced that there would be a New Year's Eve dance for Lisa in the ballroom, but Sophronia refused to change her plan. Nothing prepared the household for the moment when death struck down one of the young people in extraordinary circumstances. Why scream madly to be let out of a room when you were locked in as a joke only a moment before, and there was no one else in the room with you!

THE COLOR OF LIFE by E. John DeWard. In this book E. J. DeWard and Jennifer Perrotti have combined their talents to tell us about the varied hues to be found in nature, and how coloration permits plants and animals to attract other plants and animals, hide from enemies, survive extremes in temperature, and in general, carry on their life functions. This is a book for nature lovers, animal lovers, and the serious student of biological adaptations.

supported by the fact that there is a single Post Office to serve both communities. Fulton is a busy place; three lines of the Illinois Central system converge here, bringing prosperity to this part of Kentucky and Tennessee. This is the center of the Northernmost cotton growing area, and, as a result, Fulton has a cotton gin. Poultry and milk are important produce here, and all in all, this is a city of which Kentucky can well be proud.

Named for Robert Fulton, the inventor of the steamboat, the city of Fulton has a long and honorable history, and quite naturally, looks forward to a future carefully guided by the young people who are now in school. Many of these young have journeyed to Lexington and have enrolled at the University of Kentucky, where they are taking courses in the Arts and Sciences, and in business, that will fit them to return to their homes and "bring their education home again," and use it for the betterment of the community in which they will live and prosper. It's a real pleasure to present over the Reynolds radio network tonight, the voices of several of these young people who are now studying at the University of Kentucky.

(The salute was followed by several interviews with undergraduates from this area).

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Reynolds Store on Church Street is showing a lovely array of all fabrics and accessories. Amazing low prices include such eye-openers as 27-inch gingham at 11 cents a yard.

Governor William J. Fields was greeted by a large crowd at the city hall here last Saturday night. He was greeted by the Hon. Mormon Daniel, city chairman of the Barkley-for-Senator organization, and spoke in behalf of Mr. Barkley's candidacy.

Everett Terrill's tobacco barn, at Chestnut Glade, burned this week.

All upper bottoms above Hickman unprotected by levees are flooded to a depth of several feet and practically every crop in that section is lost. This is the highest flood ever known in the fall.

GIANNUTRI: This small, rocky island in the Mediterranean, a few miles offshore from one of Italy's colorful seacoast resort cities, Porto Stefano, is a tranquil refuge amid beautiful surroundings.

Giannutri was a hideaway once before, nearly 2,000 years ago when Nero built a palatial villa here for his mother, Agrippina. She fell out of favor and was executed, and that was the end of that period in Giannutri's history.

The ruins of the villa are wonderfully well preserved, on a promontory looking over the sea toward Corsica. They have escaped the complete destruction done to most such structures over the centuries, because the island has lacked water to support a village and because the rocky shores have made it difficult to tie up boats.

A consortium headed by a former Italian movie star, Mario Caldonazzo, has acquired this charming island. It has blasted out a harbor, built a small hotel (with excellent dining room), and constructed several villas and apartments. Other structures were under way. All must meet high standards and must conform to an accepted architectural style. There will be trails only, for travel by horseback.

since autos, motorcycles and scooters will be prohibited. Quiet and beauty will be the lasting order of the day!

Water is brought in by tanker and pumped into cisterns, built when Agrippina lived nearby, and then into a hilltop tank constructed when Mussolini had dreams of developing the island, dreams that now are coming true under the direction of the handsome, energetic Caldonazzo.

Visit Porto Stefano for seacoast beauty, and if you seek a haven away from noise and bustle, where the sun shines 350 days a year, inquire about the lovely Isla de Giannutri. Our stay here has been all too short... the apartment comfort, the fine swimming pool, the quiet, the spectacular scenery and the history all suggest we remain.

Instead of singing the Doxology phrase, "Praise all creatures here below," a little girl sang, "Praise all preachers, here we go." It made sense to her because everybody sang it at the end of the service, just as they were leaving. —Dick Van Dyke.

The MGM record division recently said it has dropped a number of recording musicians who have touted the use of drugs in their songs, or who told of using drugs. This is fine, but Major Points can't understand why the record division ever used this kind of trash in the first place! It's time that the publishing houses, radio and TV networks and the movies all understood the danger that has come because of the way they have promoted the use of drugs through articles, songs and films!

Letter From Washington By Mrs. John Sherman Cooper

President Nixon is going to China. The astronauts are on their way to the moon. I am trudging down Georgetown's gritty, crabgrass-cobblestones to the hairdresser to plunge myself into fashion magazines.

It happens every year. In the heat of August when watering the garden is like going into a steam bath, I suddenly begin to think of winter clothes. The cotton dresses I thought so nice a month ago are sagging and limp. The streets are covered with hairy hippies with filthy blue jeans and I long to escape in the cool unreal pages of Vogue and Harpers Bazaar where immaculate models are posing at ski resorts in sleek furs and glorious woolsens.

Much has been written about psychology and fashion. When the world is in an upheaval, fashion becomes erratic and strident. It is, in fact, an outward expression of a person's inner confusion and uneasiness. Ideally, clothes should reflect a peaceful state of mind and not be worn out of trendy, kinky defiance. They should be appropriate. T-shirts are great for sports, but it takes an extraordinary girl to look her best in one at night. We know that being properly dressed gives enormous self-confidence, and also reflects their character very clearly.

Well, you may say, how is one to be well dressed on a limited income or even on an unlimited one? There are a few basic rules: Do not get carried away by fads and endless shopping. Decide what you need for your way of life. What colors suit you. And buy few but good things that all go together — for instance, decide what your color scheme will be for winter. If you choose black, buy the best black shoes and handbag that you can find, a black suit or coat and any colored dress that will go with it so everything you have for morning or night can be interchangeable. The best dressed women I know have few clothes but good ones that harmonize with what they already have in their wardrobe. Do not worry about the length of skirts but choose what is most becoming for your figure. Even

In Communist China where all women wear uniform trousers, the girls are breaking away from their unisex appearance and again choosing brightly colored blouses that make them pretty.

Here is my fearless forecast. This autumn will start a revival of civilized feminine clothes and the aggressive little-league style will leave the contemporary scene.

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: We hear a lot about ecology and the environmental crisis these days. Too many people say, "Yeah — it's terrible, but what can I do about it?" I have an answer.

You can walk instead of ride. Put on comfortable shoes and start earlier. You'll feel better for having done so. If you can't walk, buy a bike, or join a car pool. Turn off a light. Turn off a faucet. Get mad at polluters. Report them. Write to your congressman about what goes on in your community — I mean those big industries that are lousing up the air and killing our beautiful lakes and rivers. Call your councilman. Pick up a candy wrapper. Attend a City Planning meeting — or ANY meeting where pollution is being discussed. Organize a glass, aluminum or paper collection. Clean up the park near your home. Give a damn. Read a book and learn the facts. Make a speech. Name names. Plant a tree. Plant a thought. Return your empties. Vote. Write your editor. Love your country, don't leave it. Stick around and clean it up.

— O. H. I.

Dear O.: Beautiful! Let's hear it for a better quality of life for more people. Thanks for your letter. I just turned off a light.

Dear Ann Landers: There's a woman in this town who is a professional volunteer do-gooder. People run when they see her coming. She always has a handful of banquet tickets or chances on a Chevrolet or a trip to Las Vegas.

Last week she caught me twice — once for recreational equipment for handicapped children, and again for a needy family, burned out in a fire. Next week she heads a drive to buy a kidney machine.

This woman is likable but no one can run into her without having it cost them money. Please print my letter so she (and others like her) will see how their constant mooching looks to others. Thanks. — Lancaster, Penn.

Dear L. P.: Of course, it's tiresome — being hit repeatedly for donations, tickets and worthy causes — but this woman (and others like her) aren't moochers. All they get out of it is sore feet — and criticism from people like you. I've done a good bit of what you call "mooching" myself and I'm still at it — not raffle tickets, but worthy causes — and I can tell you, trying to raise money these days is very tough sledding. But somebody must do it, or a good many deserving projects would go down the drain.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me how to cut clean from a very sweet guy who is Boreville. Maxwell is what every mother dreams of for her 17-year-old daughter — in fact, this could be the problem. My mother thinks he is MARVELOUS.

Max is nice looking, a neat dresser, well-mannered, says all the right things, makes honor grades, plays the piano, and his dad is a doctor. But he's a sleeping pill. For example, on our last date he brought magazine articles which he read aloud. Then he asked me to listen to a speech which he gives before the De-

Molays next week. To top it off he brought along a few hundred snapshots from his trip.

Max called three times last week and quick thinking saved me. But I'm running out of excuses. Why can't I tell him he bores me and end it? Mom says, "Don't you dare!" Help me, please. — Two Faced in Martin's Ferry

Dear T. F.: Why hurt the guy needlessly? Somewhere there's a gal who would like to look at Max's snapshots and listen to him read articles. (It beats sitting home alone on Saturday night.) Do THREE people a favor and fix up Max with a friend.

Jr. High Team Zaps Western Foes 36-0

Fulton Junior High dazzled Western Tuesday night with a 36-0 score. The 36 points brought the team's total in three games played to 90 points. Opponents have managed to squeeze out 22 points.

Coach Cecil Maddox said after the game, "Our boys ran against some big giants last night but did a fine job cutting them down."

Twenty-four points came during the first half of the game. During the first quarter, Robert Patton ran 35 yards for the first touchdown. The extra points were made on a pass from Kent Lee to Ronnie Nelms.

The second touchdown in the first quarter also came after a run by Patton, this time he carried the ball 40 yards. Lee and Nelms again completed the extra points.

After a series of plays and a quarterback sneak by Billy Shell, the Fulton team brought the score to 24-0 at half-time.

A long bomb-shell to Nelms in the third quarter gave the team its fourth touchdown, however, the extra points were not completed.

An option from quarterback Dan Homra to Patton for ten yards yielded the final touchdown of the game and the 36-0 score.

Coach Maddox praised offense and defense linemen: Brian Welch, Kent Hutchins, Peter Horn, Jerry Howell, Eddie Greer, Ronnie Nelms, Andy Hicks, Greg Sams.

Mike Hawks, Tim Connell, Carl Tibbs, Kent Patterson, Chuck Williams, Hunter White-sell, Scott Lawrence, Bryant Patton, Lincoln McManus, Bill Robertson, David Brown, Charles Mulcahy, and Andy Workman.

He also praised backs: John Sullivan, Randy Sisk, Jeff Smith, Pat Fenwick, Randy Wade, Richard Reese, Shelby Dallas, Danny Kimbel, and Dan Homra.

Coach Maddox also cited the work of Brent Ragsdale and Siska Yates who are now injured.

CAUGHT IN THE ACTION... Quarter back Billy Shell fights off a Western attacker during Tuesday night's game at Memorial Stadium. The Fulton Junior High team, coached by Cecil Maddox, had nothing to worry about, though. They won the game 36-0.

separately from facilities for males.

The current list of regulations has retained the sections concerning time records, posting of these regulations, and penalty warnings.

Although the current order warns: "Failure to Post This Order Is A Criminal Violation," a quick canvass of half a dozen Lake Street stores failed to uncover a posted copy, dated either 1912 or 1971.

Violation, according to the order, could result in fines for the first offense of not less than $25 nor more than $50, and for subsequent offenses not less than $50 nor more than $200, or imprisonment for not less than 10 days nor more than 90 days or both.

The old order threatened the same fines.

The current law does contain one significant section not present in the 1912 order.

Female employees must be given rest periods for at least 10 minutes every four hours, in addition to the regularly scheduled lunch period.

(This, no doubt, was added after women were allowed to drink coffee in public, hence, "coffee breaks.")

With so few changes in a 60-year period, one of two conclusions can be reached regarding the progressiveness of laws regulating the employment of females. Either women have not come such a long way after all; or, the regulations of 1912 were unusually progressive and showed much foresight.

Man's only worth is as a humble instrument of the Universal Power.

STAND UP AND BE COUNTED

Without beating an issue to death, I'd like to make a comment on the September 27 commission meeting at which the issue of a new city hall was debated.

As was reported, a delegation of citizens, mostly merchants, attended the meeting and expressed their views concerning the proposal. Now, I'm sure there are many other persons with either slightly differing or even opposing views. But unless those persons make those views known, they'll never be heard. Be assured that I am not expressing an opinion pro or con. It simply seems imperative that on an issue of such magnitude, all facets should be considered.

Commission meetings are held every second and fourth Mondays of each month. And they are open to the public.

AT IT AGAIN

This time of year always brings to mind Thomas Paine's famous "These are the times that try men's souls." Only I don't remember them in connection with revolution or dissent. I recall them about now, the hottest day in July kind, when several others didn't get caught in the same deceptive trap, I'd feel very stupid wearing fall clothing in 90-degree heat.

STRIKE UP THE BAND!!!
Mr. Patterson, director for the Fulton High Band, told me this week that the fund for band uniforms is only $1,500 short. He also said that the lack of uniforms is one reason the band will not be participating in the Regional Marching Band Festival to be held in Murray October 11-13.

YOU MUST BE KIDDING

While running from store to store trying to locate a copy of the current regulations governing female employees, I encountered some interesting comments. The employees at one store pointed out to their manager the section dealing with providing chairs, one for every three persons. Unperturbed, the manager pointed to the stairs and began counting, one, two, three....

A MERE TECHNICALITY

From time to time you hear about unusual laws in other countries, and in this one, too. A recent case brought to light a law, that, evidently, few people are aware of, I'm speaking of the one where the wife wanted to resume the use of her maiden name, even though she was not divorced. In the end she won the case because it seems that there is no law to the contrary. Talk about a mix-up. Newspaper people especially have a lot of trouble with Miss and Mrs. titles. If too many women follow suit, the confusion will really be unbelievable.

SPEAKING OF LAWS...

Talking about laws brings to mind something our book-keeper Karen Rice told me once. Her mother, Barbara, is city clerk and has administered the oath of office on occasion. It struck her funny, as it did me the first time I heard it, that the oath still contains lines concerning dueling, and being a second in a duel.

Even more peculiar is an ordinance which, I guess, is still on the books. When there was an epidemic of yellow fever, several roads to Fulton were closed and residents of Cairo were forbidden to enter town. As far as I know, though, they're welcomed now.

Jeannie Turner Shows Champ Angus Steer

The reserve champion was also an Angus steer showed by Lou Ann Turner. This calf was purchased by the Citizens Bank of Hickman for 50¢ per pound.

Saying Replaces Sewing

A COLUMN BY WIN WHITNEL

SAYING CIRCLE

The sewing circle has almost disappeared. In its place, we have the "saying circle" where that obnoxious phrase, "they say," "they say," "they say," often pollutes the air. Sometimes it is idle chatter or innocent banter, but too often it is vicious and malicious.

Gossip can be an assassin of character. If untrue, it leaves the victim defenseless for many rounds of "they say." Shakespeare put it this way: "He who steals my purse steals trash."

But he who robs me of my good name Enriches not himself and makes me poor indeed."

To delight in gossip makes one wonder if it doesn't often spring from envy, jealousy or incompetence. It makes some people feel superior to kick a few skeletons out of someone else's closet or hang some dirty linen on the line. It inflates the ego of the gossip and is calculated to deflate the ego of the victim. All of this is a negative approach. The poet, Alexander Pope, stated it this way:

"All looks infected that the infected spy,
As all looks yellow to the jaundiced eye."

Is it possible that the gossip-sipper can be projecting his own foibles and mistakes on to the other fellow, so that he can feel superior?

This "saying circle" can be masculine or feminine, or a mixture. As a broadcasting station, it can be found over the bridge, poker and party table, or anywhere two or more people meet!

SO WHAT? Beware of the "they says" that you repeat and pass along. Examine the contents carefully. The package may be loaded with misquotes, misunderstanding, rumor or unadulterated lies — a skeptical attitude might be in order.

Why not vibrate positively, and slip in a few remarks about the good traits of the person discussed in the circle. Surely there are admirable traits in the worst of the human race.

Remember, too, the Good Lord doesn't judge a human being until the end of his days.

NO-GO

Several decades ago when Calvin Coolidge was presiding officer in the state senate in Massachusetts, the following incident occurred:

School in Harlem, Streety went on to graduate and came to Murray State in 1968 after two years of play at Broome Tech at Binghamton, N. Y.

Streety is extremely anxious to get his degree in physical education from Murray before joining the Globetrotters, although this could pose a problem as the team is scheduled to leave soon for a tour of Italy.

At the moment, he is not sure whether or not they will insist he go along, but if they do, he will, he says.

"I'll just have to come back to Murray next summer and finish up," he said. "I want that degree, but I also want to play ball with the Globetrotters. This is my chance for that, and I don't want to miss it."

Dr. Paul Baird, a classmate in Vanderbilt, gave me this incident that occurred in his early days of practice in Dyersburg, Tennessee:

One night an old man, bleeding from an ugly cut on his face, staggered into the hospital. It seems that he had gotten the worst end of a fight. The wound required thirty stitches to close.

Several months later, he met this same old fellow on the street. Knowing that he would never be paid for his services but just to have a little fun, he said to his former patient: "Sam, when are you going to pay me for sewing up your face?"

"Sam replied, 'Lordy golly goodness, Dr. Baird, I can't even pay my just and honest debts, much less paying you.'"

Implied Consent Law Upheld By State Court

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Over the dissent of one judge, the state Court of Appeals has upheld the Kentucky implied consent law.

Judge Earl Osborne said the law "violates every known constitutional concept and principle" but his six colleagues upheld a decision by Lincoln Circuit Court that the law is valid. The law holds that a motorist suspected of drunk driving must submit to a chemical blood test upon request of a police officer or lose his driver's license for at least six months.

"Balancing the public interest with the entitlement of the individual to operate a motor vehicle, we hold that the procedure provided (in the law) is a valid exercise of the police power," Steinfeld said.

Nader Raps Kentucky Tax Assessing System

WASHINGTON — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader says property tax assessors in Kentucky and other Appalachian states frequently under-assess the value of property owned by industrial and commercial interests and sometimes fail to put it on the tax rolls at all.

Nader's comments about Kentucky came in an attack Thursday on the way state and local governments administer property taxes.

At least $7 billion a year in property tax revenues nationwide aren't being collected because of tax administrative practices on the state and local level, Nader said.

Testifying before the Senate Select Committee on equal educational opportunity, Nader said under-assessment "has literally starved the schools in Appalachia."

Citing Kentucky examples, he said a fact finding team appointed by the school board in Pike County found 40 to 60 per cent of the county's land was either under-assessed or not listed on assessment rolls in 1967. That year the county school system had a $113,000 deficit.

Nader said the Tennessee Valley Authority acquired title to 8,800 acres of "extremely rich coal land" in Bell County for which it was required to pay normal property taxes for the first three years of ownership.

TVA got the land when a supplier defaulted on a coal contract. But since the land hadn't ever been listed as appraised by the tax assessor, no taxes had been paid by the former owner and TVA is paying none, Nader said. He cited Whitesburg Atty. Harry Caudill as his source.

In Harlan County, Nader said U.S. Coal and Coke, a subsidiary of U.S. Steel, paid only $34,500 in 1966 in property taxes on two producing mines valued at $9.3 million, or about one tenth what it would have paid in some other states.

A Nader aide said the sources of information for the testimony were previously published reports and earlier testimony by others at hearings conducted in Kentucky by the National Education Association.

KEA COSTS

The Kentucky Education Association (KEA) estimates the cost of its 1972-74 biennium and $72.5 million for the second year. On a per-pupil basis this would amount to $49 next year and $10 the following year. KEA president Claude Purvis of Louisville outlined the program and its projects cost in an appearance before the General Assembly's joint Kierin committee of education in Frankfort September 17.

The junior past matron, Mrs. Lucille Maurer, and junior past patron, Roy Maurer, were escorted to the East where they were presented with past matron's and past patron's pins by the newly installed worthy matron and worthy patron.

Following the incoming worthy matron's address to the chapter, a potluck supper was served to 70 local and out-of-town guests.

The next meeting will be Oct. 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, at which time Mrs. Jackson will announce her committees for the coming year.

MSU Given $3,750 Grant

MURRAY, Ky. — Murray State University has been awarded a $3,750 federal grant as part of a program designed to upgrade criminal justice manpower through educational development.

Made available by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of the U. S. Department of Justice, the grant provides funds to cover the costs of tuition and books for students who are employed full-time in criminal justice work.

Johnny McDougal, director of student financial aid at Murray State, said the grant for the 1971-72 fiscal year is open to both full-time and part-time students who earn a livelihood in the areas of law enforcement, public safety, crime prevention, the courts, and corrections.

Grants through the LEEP (Law Enforcement Education Program) may cover general study courses as well as courses specializing in areas of criminal justice, he added.

He said the applicant's employer must certify that the educational work is essential to the direction, supervision and success of the agency's primary mission for general courses to qualify for grant assistance.

McDougal listed accounting, political science, social work, business administration, sociology and psychology as some of the subject matter areas more likely to qualify under the program.

The Ivory Coast had more than 26,000 acres under rubber production at the end of last year and the planting of another 60,000 acres is planned.

Nunn Will Not Seek House Seat

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Gov. Louie B. Nunn declared Wednesday evening he has no intention at this time of being a candidate for Congress in the 6th District.

Nunn responded to a copyrighted article Wednesday evening in the Louisville Times. The article said Nunn is considering the possibility of running for the congressional vacancy created by the death last week of Rep. John C. Watts, a Democrat.

The newspaper said Nunn, a Republican, conferred with political strategists about the possibility of seeking the seat.

Nunn told he was flattered by the mention and shared Watts' interest in agriculture, livestock and educational institutions in the 6th District.

TWO IS ENOUGH—Two tacklers on this Obion Central player appears to be enough and a Central blocker makes sure as he holds off a would-be Fulton City tackler in action on the Rebel field Friday evening. Central sparked as they outclassed the Kentuckians 33-7.

Rebels Win Over Fulton

Nine turnovers (a mistake that costs possession of the ball) might be expected in a basketball game but a football game is hardly.

However, Fulton City coughed the ball up that many times and Obion Central capitalized on the errors for a 33-7 home field victory Friday night.

The big spurge came in the first period when Central recovered four Fulton fumbles and converted every one into touchdowns to jump to a quick 27-0 lead.

The Rebs coasted the rest of the way, playing their sophomore unit and giving the entire squad a chance to get some game experience first hand.

The Rebs tallied again in the final frame, as did Fulton City for their lone score.

Junior quarterback Tommy Victory, who seems to improve every week, turned in an outstanding display for the Rebs. Victory was 8 for 16 throwing the ball for 131 yards and two touchdowns. He added 26 yards rushing on seven attempts, ran a two-point conversion and kicked a one-pointer to lead the Central attack.

Devils Sustain Loss In Reelfoot Contest

"We took a physical beating as well as losing the football game," was the way Coach Terry Beadles described the South Fulton loss, 32-6, to Greenfield Friday evening.

The Devils tallied the first score of the game as they drove almost the length of the field and counted on a one-yard plunge by Darrell Williams a minute into the second period. The extra point was blocked for a 6-0 Devil lead.

It appeared that would be the halftime score as South Fulton sparked on defense. However, with 40 seconds to go in the half, the Devils punted and a Greenfield back returned the ball 60 yards for a touchdown. The Jackets ran the point and made it 8-6 with the momentum swung their way at halftime.

The Devils came back in the third period and appeared as if they were going to make it a close affair. However, with three minutes of action gone in the third frame, the Jackets plucked a pass and returned it 60 yards for a score. The PATs were good and it was 16-6.

"That broke our back for the rest of the game," Coach Beadles said. "After that, the Greenfield team handled us pretty well."

believe if they hadn't broke the punt on us, we would have won the football game," he concluded. The Jackets tallied twice more in the closing minutes to mount up the score.

The loss may have been a costly one to the Devils as Major Martin, Paul Phelps and Robert Burrow all were injured in the game.

Toll Road Decision Hailed As Wise Move

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Kentucky's construction of toll roads has been called "one of the wisest decisions ever made by state government" by a Legislative Research Commission study.

The study, requested by the 1970 General Assembly and released Friday, based its conclusion primarily on the economic development that resulted from the interstate-type highways.

The report, a joint effort of the LRC and the University of Kentucky Office of Development, conceded that toll revenue from the highways to date has not been enough to meet the schedule for retiring the bonds issued to finance them.

However, the study said, analysis shows the economic benefits accruing to areas served by toll roads to be greater than such benefits in unaffected regions or even along interstate highways.

Reveal Income, Says Politician

LEXINGTON, Ky. — A Republican candidate for the Kentucky House of Representatives has called for publication of income sources by all political candidates in order to boost the credibility of "professional politicians."

Adult Classes Set At Newbern

Openings are available in Adult Basic Education classes at the Newbern Area Vocational-Technical School, according to Superintendent Russ Devore.

The classes are meeting Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30 and will begin with basic skills in mathematics, reading and English and will point a person toward obtaining higher education or a high school diploma.

Classes also are available in machine shop, welding and office occupations with classes in air conditioning and refrigeration scheduled to begin Oct. 4.

Persons interested in the tuition-free courses are urged to visit the school or call 627-2511 to arrange admittance.

New York City has 170 horses for its mounted patrolmen.

Scouts Helped By United Fund

The South Fulton Girl Scouts currently boast 51 members and plans are being made to increase the number of those active in that area.

One of the reasons this is possible is because of the $500 allocated to the Bear Creek Girl Scout Council by the Obion County United Fund drive that is currently under way.

The Bear Creek Council comprises portions of three states and is supported by organizations such as United Fund.

Recently, the council has been able to obtain a full-time executive-director and three field workers to be able to offer increased activities and training to those girls who participate in the Scouting program.

South Fulton troops are sponsored by the First Baptist Church and First Methodist Church and include Brownies and Juniors. In addition, some South Fulton girls are members of Fulton troops.

Changes In State's Election
Laws Proposed By Committee

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A proposal to computerize Kentucky's voter registration lists to make purgation easier has been ordered drafted into bill form by an interim legislative committee.

That proposal was among suggestions for changes in the state's election laws which the Legislative Research Commission (LRC) staff made in a report Friday.

The interim committee on elections and constitutional amendments, which received the report presented by Miss Donna K. Smith, made it clear it might change any of the proposals when they are in bill form. The committee is to take up the proposals for possible action at its next meeting.

Charles Bratton, of the LRC staff, submitted a proposed tight time schedule for computerizing the registration lists by the general election in November 1972. That would call for passage of the necessary law by Jan. 30 and awarding a contract by Feb. 5.

But State Rep. Gross Lindsay, D-Henderson, commented that, as a practical matter, it would be impossible to get the system into operation that quickly.

Bratton said that fringe benefits of such a system, which perhaps could be added a year or two after it began, would include an easier way to analyze the vote in terms of occupation, age and the like.

Other changes in Kentucky's election laws suggested by the staff report included:

—Making provisions of the 1970 Federal Voting Rights Act, which affects only presidential elections, apply to all state elections as well. That would eliminate residency requirements—which now are one year in the state, six months in the county and 60 days in the precinct; it also would extend the period for registering to vote and would allow for wider use of absentee voting.

—Clarifying the question of student residence for voting.

—Providing some way of voting for persons who are sick and disabled.

—Permitting mobile registration units.

—Providing closer supervision by the State Board of Elections over county registration and purgation boards.

State Rep. Carl Ruh, D-Fort Mitchell, who is the committee chairman, added to the LRC suggestions a proposal to allow persons to vote if they have signed the voting book by 6 p.m. but have not actually voted yet. Now the polls close at 6 p.m. on election day no matter how many persons are waiting in line.

In the very near future, the House of Representatives will consider a proposed amendment to the Constitution concerning equal rights for men and women. The proposal reads as follows:

"Section 1. Equality of rights shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

"Section 2. The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

"Section 3. This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification."

Many proponents of this Constitutional amendment feel that discrimination against women is so widespread that it would be almost impossible to deal with it on a piecemeal basis, state by state and statute by statute. Although the Fourteenth Amendment includes the famous "equal protection" clause, it is felt that the Supreme Court is not likely to extend coverage of this clause to women. It is also argued that the process of ratifying this amendment would call attention to the rights of women in the various states.

Opponents of the proposal point out that men and women are physically different and that the differences should be reflected in our laws. They also point out that the Fourteenth Amendment contains the "equal protection" clause and makes a new amendment unnecessary. Furthermore, they feel that the energy spent on amending the constitution could be better spent in revising the laws of the various states.

In my mind, it is difficult to argue with the idea that men and women should be given the same pay for doing the same job. It is also difficult for me to take issue with the idea that women should have the same opportunity for advancement and for otherwise filling the higher paying jobs. Certainly a person's pay or opportunity should not be based on sex.

For these reasons, I am looking favorably at the proposal, and there are parts of it which cause me some concern. If this proposal passes as it is presently written, women will be subject to the military draft, and it will be illegal to exempt them because of their sex. For this reason, an amendment will be offered which will explicitly exempt women from the draft and will allow the continuation of other State laws which were designed to promote the health and safety of the people, particularly women.

If this change is made in the proposed Constitutional Amendment I do not see how I could in good faith oppose it. It seems a pity that a constitutional amendment is necessary to remind us that women too are people, but evidently the need is there.

Last year, I supported a similar proposal when it was approved by the House of Representatives.

EMPLOY THE HANDICAPPED—In proclaiming Oct. 3-9 as Employ the Handicapped Week in Kentucky, Gov. Louie B. Nunn said "we can bring all of our handicapped fellow citizens into the mainstream of life." Ford-Emberton TV Debate Scheduled LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Democratic gubernatorial nominee Wendell Ford and Republican nominee Tom Emberton have agreed to meet in a live, televised one-hour debate on the evening of Oct. 10.

The broadcast will originate from WHAS-TV and Radio here. News Director Robert Morse said the station would make the broadcast available to any radio or television station serving Kentucky.

According to Morse, the Kentucky Educational Television Network will provide a live telecast on all its stations with the exception of Channel 68 in Louisville, which will serve as the pick-up point for the other stations.

Morse said independent party candidate William Smith has accepted the station's offer for 30 minutes of time under the Federal Communication Commission's equal time regulation. Former Gov. A. B. Chandler, an independent candidate for governor, had not yet been reached concerning the free time offer, Morse said. Details for the debate were arranged by Democratic State Chairman Walter Huddleston; Fred Karem, Emberton's campaign coordinator, and representatives of WHAS.

The debate moderator will be newsman Mort Crim.

The debate agreement calls for the following format:

Each candidate will make an opening statement of not more than three minutes, and each then will be allowed alternating three-minute segments in which they may "address themselves to their opponent or any issue."

According to Morse, the candidates have agreed to "confine the debate to the issues. The program moderator—Crim—will remind a candidate of the debate rules if he begins a personal attack on his opponent."

The candidates agreed that no later campaign use would be made of film or tape of the debate.

Obion County students attaining a position on the honor roll are: (High Honors) Glenn Roberts Fry, Joe Neely Warren. (Honors) Betty Carol Martin.

Gain Of 300 Since Freeze

State Payroll Over 30,000

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The total number of state employees has climbed past the 30,000 mark again, about 300 more than when Gov. Louie B. Nunn ordered a freeze and cutback in jobs two years ago.

As of the quarter ending June 30, Personnel Department records show 26,455 permanent, full-time employees, 2,187 seasonal full-time workers and 2,085 others, for a total of 30,727. The "other" category covers temporary, emergency and part-time both permanent and seasonal employees.

For comparison, the figures for June, 1969 — shortly before Nunn ordered his freeze and cutback — were 25,599 permanent, 3,208 seasonal and 1,588 other, for a total of 30,395.

And when compared with four years ago — during the final year of former Democratic Gov. Edward T. Breathitt's term — the latest figures show a 2,738 increase in total number of employees. Broken down by category, the 1971 figures show 2,836 more permanent employees than in 1967, 785 fewer seasonal workers and 687 more other employees.

That comparison is pertinent because of quadrennial charges that the incumbent governor is handing out jobs as favors to drum up support for the candidacy of the man that the governor would like to succeed him.

The total number of state employees now as compared to four years ago reflect an average increase of only 2.5 per cent a year but the boost over last year's total of 28,774 represents a 6 per cent jump.

The seasonal and other jobs are those most often mentioned as being handed out for political gain since the control over them is not so strict as over permanent full-time jobs under the merit system.

But the 4,272 employees now in such jobs actually number 100 fewer than was the case four years ago.

The high point in employees in those two categories was 4,796 in 1969, when the only statewide political race was for auditor. In that contest, Democrat Mary Louise Foust defeated James Thompson, the Republican Nunn had appointed to the post upon the death of Clyde Conley.

Births, Marriages, Divorces Increase In Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Births, marriages and divorces all increased in Tennessee during the first six months of 1971, the state health department said Thursday.

At the same time, Tennessee had a record low infant death rate and a decrease in deaths from influenza.

For the third year in a row, there was an increase in the number of births and the birth rate with 35,813 live births for a rate of 18.4 per 1,000 population. This compares with 34,580 live births during the first six months of 1970 for a birth rate of 17.8.

Deaths from all causes for the period were 19,678. The crude death rate of 10.1 per 1,000 population was the same as for the first six months of each of the three preceding years.

State National Guard Will Launch Recruiting Program

The Kentucky National Guard is launching a recruitment campaign this month to offset potentially heavy losses through discharges, state Adj. Gen. Larry C. Dawson said Thursday.

Each company-size guard unit in the state has been directed to appoint one officer and at least one senior noncommissioned officer for additional duties in recruitment and retention of guardsmen.

Personnel assigned to those duties will attend one of three special training sessions to help prepare them for the task. The first such session will be held in Louisville Friday and Saturday, followed by another at Lexington Oct. 9-10 and one at Madisonville Oct. 16-17.

Although the Kentucky National Guard has continued at its past strength of more than 5,000, nearly 1,500 enlisted men will be eligible for discharge by next summer. This high figure is a result of the military build-up in 1965 and 1966 because of the Vietnam War, with recruits signing up for six-year terms in the National Guard in large part to keep from being drafted.

Compounding the problem of having so many of those men complete their terms of service now is the recent drop in draft calls. That decline is expected to become even steeper in the coming months.

Nationally, only about 10 percent of the men who joined the Guard in 1965 are staying in upon completion of their six-year terms. Defense authorities are worried that the guard will fall significantly below its authorized strength of 400,000 for the first time in years.

Actually, Kentucky scored much higher than that during the first six months of 1971, with 40 percent of those eligible for discharge deciding not to get out now.

But nearly two-thirds of those who did stay in merely extended their tours of duty, which can be done indefinitely for a year at a time, instead of signing up for another six years.

The training programs in Kentucky are conducted by a team of three officers and three enlisted men, headed by Lt. Col. Armando J. Alfaro of Lexington.

NUTRITION FOR ATHLETES

Each year about this time it seems a good idea to talk about how athletes should eat.

The reason for this is that many coaches (though I'm happy to say their number grows less each year) recommend special diets, or special eating habits for their athletes. Since I disagree with this approach to health, I must speak up. My views reflect those of the medical profession generally.

Let's talk basics: The energy you use for every activity of life and growth, heat and motion comes from the chemical energy stored in foods. What you eat, then, determines your supply of this energy and the other essential building materials your body needs.

Young athletes are in a period of development and growth - as well as great energy expenditure. All teen-agers are. But especially athletes.

Vets Eligible For Funds For Autos

Many severely disabled World War II and Korean Service veterans are not taking advantage of a public law which provides funds for the purchase, repair or replacement of special adaptive equipment for their automobiles. J. G. Ratliff, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Louisville, said the new law was Public Law 91-666.

Ratliff pointed out the VA is authorized to grant money toward the purchase of an automobile for veterans who suffered the loss or loss of use of one or more hands or feet or both eyes in military service.

Eligible veterans are urged to contact the VA office at 600 Federal Place in Louisville, or a veterans service organization representative in their own town.
